We met to discuss the development of our current main idea. We came to an agreement that we should email the professor for feedback before completely writing the proposal. We ended up splitting the group into 2 tasks. First group to work on a soft draft while we wait for an email back. Group 2 with the task to come up with 1 new idea each to collect possible backup ideas we can shift too. We also agreed to meet back up once we get an email response to reassess and make any change of plans needed.

Parth, Julie, and Jason are in charge of drafting up the proposal.

Julie is in task of sending email proposal to Vong

Steven, Khoung, An are brainstorming to come up with one idea each for a backup plan
